ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS—This report was prepared in the Agriculture Division under the direct supervision of Ray Hurley. Orvin L. Wilhite, Assistant Chief for Program Coordination, supervised the preparation of specifications and instructions for office processing, training materials and the development of enumeration procedures, and the technical review of statistics prior to their publication. Hector Vila made significant contributions to the preparation of instructions and training materials for the enumeration and in the handling of technical problems in connection with both enumeration and office processing. Helen D. Turner contributed to the design and development of questionnaires and enumeration training materials and editorial review of reports.

The collection of data by field enumeration was under the direct supervision of Jefferson D. McPike, Chief, Field Division assisted by Arthur G. Dukakis, Supervisor of the census of Puerto Rico. The Commonwealth of Puerto Rico made valuable contributions to the census by the loan of technically trained personnel for the enumeration of large farms and for supervising the enumeration.

The overall planning for the processing of the census of agriculture for Puerto Rico was developed by the former Demographic Operations Division under the direction of Morton A. Meyer, Chief, and E. Richard Bourdon, Assistant Chief, and later in the Systems Division under Sol Dolleck, Chief, and Betty S. Mitchell, Assistant Chief. Computer programming was under the direction of Robert J. Connolly. James Pepal was responsible for supervision of the computer processing operations.

Introduction

AUTHORITY AND AREA COVERED—The census of agriculture is authorized by an Act of Congress, "Title 13, United States Code—Census," codified August 31, 1954, and amended in August 1957, September 1960, June and October 1962, and August 1964. Section 142 paragraph (a) provides for the census of agriculture to be taken in October 1959 and each fifth year thereafter. Section 191 provides that the census data for Guam and the Virgin Islands may be collected by the Governor, or highest ranking Federal official, in accordance with plans prescribed or approved by the Director of the U.S. Bureau of the Census. The 1964 census covers agriculture in each of the States and in Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

ENUMERATION—The statistics presented in this report represent totals obtained by adding information obtained from farm operators in November and December 1964. The information was obtained from the operator of each farm by means of an agricultural questionnaire containing questions and space for answers. (See appendix B for a copy of the agriculture questionnaires.)

Except for some large farms, the enumeration of the 1964 Census of Agriculture was completed by a census enumerator. An enumerator was assigned a specific area—a barrio, or a group of adjacent barrios—to enumerate. The enumerator was given a detailed map for the area assigned. Except in urban and built-up residential areas, the enumerator was required to visit each dwelling (or place) in his assignment, list the head of each household, and obtain answers regarding the size of the place. (See appendix C for a facsimile of the A2 listing form used by the enumerator.) For places of 3 or more cuerdas, the enumerator was required to obtain a completed agriculture questionnaire. In built-up residential areas outside of urban areas, enumerators were required to visit and to list on the A2 listing form only places with agricultural operations. In urban areas, the enumerator was given a list of farm operators in 1959 in his assignment and was required to enumerate only the places operated as farms in 1959.

To assist in obtaining an enumeration as complete as possible, enumerators were required to plot on the detailed map of their assignment the location of each dwelling or place listed on the A2 listing form. Enumerators were also given lists of large farms located in the assigned area and were not required to obtain an agriculture questionnaire for each large farm, as these large farms were to be enumerated by special enumerators.

Special arrangements were made for the enumeration of farms containing 200 or more cuerdas, dairy farms with licenses to sell milk, poultry farms with 200 or more laying hens or 1,000 broilers sold, beef cattle farms with 30 or more head, hog farms with 15 or more hogs or 10 or more sows, and farms operated by government agencies, schools, and institutions. Lists of these farms were prepared before the beginning of the enumeration, from the records of the 1959 census, and from records obtained from various agencies of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

Each census enumerator and crew leader or supervisor was given a list of the large farms in their area and was instructed to list any large farms or parts of large farms found in the assigned area on the A2 listing, but not to obtain an agriculture questionnaire for the large farms. A special agriculture questionnaire was used for large farms. (See questionnaire B, Appendix B.)

Agriculture questionnaires were mailed to operators of large farms and these operators were asked to fill the questionnaires and keep them until a special enumerator called. Large farms were enumerated by special enumerators, who were usually persons who had been municipio agricultural agents, experienced interviewers or professional employees of the University of Puerto Rico or of other agencies of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

All questionnaires of large farms were reviewed individually by agricultural economists or statisticians. Questionnaires that were not complete and questionnaires with questionable data were given to special enumerators for completion or for verification of reported data by a personal visit to the farm operator.

OFFICE PROCESSING—During the office processing, agriculture questionnaires and A2 listing forms were reviewed for completeness. Missing agriculture questionnaires were obtained by mail, or by a personal visit of an enumerator.

The data contained on each agriculture questionnaire were placed on magnetic tapes by means of punched cards. The data for each agriculture questionnaire were reviewed by an electronic computer to determine that punched cards for all items on the questionnaire were consistent and present, and to make classification of the farm, by size of farm, tenure of farm operator, economic class of farm, and type of farm. When the review of the computer indicated data were inconsistent, or missing, or when the review of preliminary totals for the municipio indicated a possible error, the data on the questionnaires were reviewed by an agricultural statistician and corrections were made when significant data were in error, missing, etc.

CENSUS DEFINITION OF A FARM—Places of 3 or more cuerdas were counted as farms if any agricultural products, other than vegetables for home use, were produced or if any livestock or 15 or more chickens or other poultry were kept on the place. In 1964, 70 places of less than 3 cuerdas, classified as large farms, were included in the census.

All the land under the control of one person or partnership was included as one farm. Control may have been through ownership, or through lease or rental arrangement.

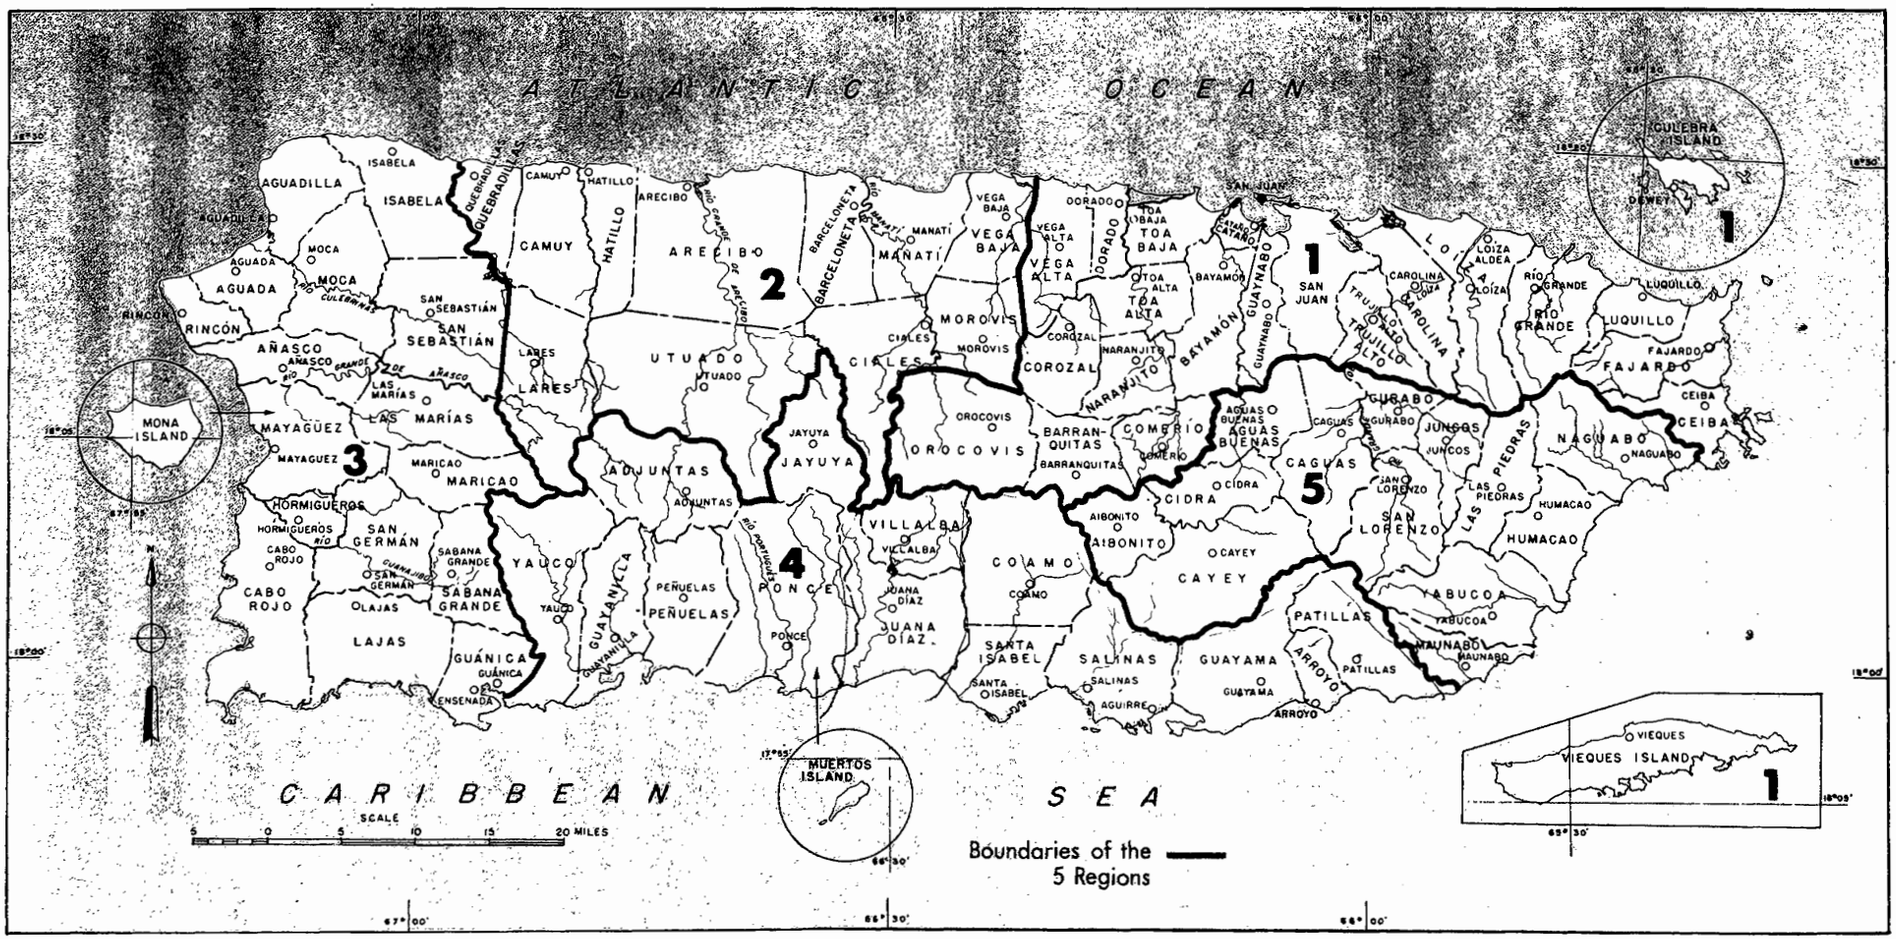

COMPARISON OF DATA FOR THE 1964 AND 1959 CENSUSES—Generally the data for the 1964 and the 1959 censuses are comparable. The definitions and explanations given in appendix A for individual items explain some of the limitations regarding the comparability of data for the two censuses.

Appendix A

DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

Descriptive summary and references—The definitions and explanations that follow relate only to those items that are considered to be inadequately described in the tables where data appear. Most of the definitions consist of a resumé of the questionnaire wording, supplemented by excerpts from instructions given to enumerators. For exact wording of the questions and of the instructions included on the questionnaire, see the facsimile of the 1964 agriculture questionnaires in appendix B.

Land area—The approximate total land area is 2,254,365 cuerdas. A cuerda is equivalent to 0.9712 of an acre.

Land in farms—Except for managed farms, the land to be included in each farm was determined from the answers to questions about the number of acres owned, the number of acres rented from others, and the number of acres rented to others. The acres owned and the acres rented from others were first added together and then the acres rented to others were subtracted. The result represented the number of acres in the farm. The number of acres in a managed farm was the difference between the total land managed and that part of the managed land that was rented to others.

The acreage designated in the tables as "land in farms" consists primarily of "agricultural" land—that is, land cultivated and used for pasture or grazing. It also includes considerable areas of land not actually under cultivation nor used for pasture or grazing. For example, the entire acreage of woodland and wasteland owned or rented by farm operators is included as land in farms, unless it was being held for nonagricultural purposes.

Land owned—All land that the operator and/or his wife held under title, purchase contract, or as heir or trustee of an undivided estate at the time of enumeration is considered as owned.

Land rented from others—This item includes land that the operator rented or leased from others and land occupied rent free.

Land rented to others—This item includes all land rented or leased to others. For the most part, the land rented to others represents agricultural land, but it also includes some land rented for residential or other purposes. The tenant is considered as the operator of land leased, rented, or worked on shares even though his landlord may supervise his operations. The landlord is considered as operator of only that portion of the land not assigned to tenants.

Cash rent paid—Cash rent is paid for land rented in Puerto Rico. The amount of cash rent paid represents the cash rent paid for the entire acreage rented including rent paid for dwellings or buildings. No information was obtained regarding any payments other than cash made by farm operators renting land.

Land managed—This item includes all tracts of land managed for one or more employers by a person hired on a salary basis. A hired manager was considered to be the operator of the land he managed since he was responsible for the agricultural operations on that land and frequently supervised others in performing those operations.

Agregados living on farms—Agregado families include those families living on farms that are not operated by any member of the family. A member of the agregado family may or may not be an employee of the farm operator, and he may or may not produce any agricultural products of his own on the farm. An agregado usually lives on a small plot large enough for the cultivation of a few crops for consumption by members of the family or for the raising of some chickens, hogs, or cows. He may be allowed to use the land gratuitously or may pay informally for the use of the land in work, a share of the agricultural products, or money. He does not control the use of the land and he does not have a definite contract with the operator of the farm. The agregado may own, rent, or use rent-free the house in which he lives.

The questionnaire asked the farm operator to report the number of agregado families that were not medianeros living on the farm at the time of the census and the amount of land cultivated by these agregados. Livestock belonging to agregados and kept on the farm, and all agricultural production by agregados on the farm, were to be reported by the operator of the farm on which the agregados lived. Approximately one-third of the families of agregados lived on "large" farms. The questionnaire for large farms contained questions asking for the number of livestock owned by agregados and medianeros.

Medianeros (sharecroppers)—A medianero is a person who works land under a definite arrangement with a farm operator, receiving a certain share of the crops in return for his labor or other contribution. Farm operators were instructed to report the number of medianeros working on the farm, and the cuerdas cultivated by them and to include in the report for their farm all the livestock kept and agricultural production by medianeros.

For the 1940 census, places operated by medianeros, were counted as farms if the land in the place of the medianero was 3 or more cuerdas and the value of agricultural products was $100 or more. If the area of the place of the medianero was not equal to 3 cuerdas or the value of the agricultural products was not $100, the place operated by the medianero, the crops harvested on the place, and livestock and poultry on the place were not included in the census.

Since it is possible for the same person to work as medianero on more than one farm, census figures may overstate the number of medianeros. Likewise, since it is possible for a person to live as an agregado on one farm and work as a medianero on another, some families may be counted both as agregados and as medianeros.

Land in two or more municipios—An individual farm was always enumerated in only one municipio, even in cases where the land was located in two or more municipios. If the farm operator lived on the farm, the farm was enumerated in the municipio where he lived. If he did not live on the farm, the figures for the farm were tabulated for the municipio where the farm headquarters was located. In cases where there was any question as to the location of the headquarters, figures for the farm were tabulated for the municipio where most of the land was located.

Land in farms according to use—Land in farms has been distributed according to the way in which it was used in 1964.

Land under cultivation—This classification includes land in crops as well as land used for crops, except land in cultivated pasture. It includes land in sugarcane, pineapples, coffee, fruits, coconuts, etc., even though no crop was harvested from the land during 1964. It includes also idle cropland and cropland from which no crop was harvested in 1964 because of crop failure.

The data for land under cultivation are not fully comparable with data for the classification "Cropland used for crops" for the 1959 census. Cropland used for crops for the 1959 census included land in cultivated grasses, which were included in the classification "Cultivated and improved pasture" for the 1964 census.

Land in cultivated and improved pasture—This classification includes land planted in Paragrass, Guinea grass, Merker grass, Pangola grass, and molasses grass. Some of this land is used for pasture and some is used for the harvesting of these crops for forage.

Open pastureland—This includes land that is not covered with trees or shrubs, used for pasture or grazing.

Pastureland suitable for crops—This land-use classification was used for the 1959 census and includes open as well as brushland pasture which the farm operator considered usable for crops.

Other pastureland—This land-use classification was used only for the 1964 census and included land used for pasture that has brush or trees.

Land in hills, forests, and brush not used for crops or pasture—This includes lands in hills, forests, and brush that was not used for crops or for pasture.

Land not suitable for crops—This land use classification was used only for the 1959 census and includes any open and brushland pasture the farm operator considered not suitable for use for the production of crops.

Land in buildings, roads, lakes, and wasteland—Land occupied by houses, roads, lakes, and land in house lots and wasteland are included under this classification.

Land irrigated—Irrigated land represents land to which water is applied by means of ditches, sprinklers, or other artificial means for agricultural purposes. The land to be reported as irrigated included not only land under cultivation, but also pastureland. Figures were obtained separately for areas irrigated by water from irrigation systems owned or operated by agencies of the government and for irrigation systems or facilities operated by farmers, individuals, or privately owned companies, etc. Some land was irrigated by water from irrigation systems or facilities operated by the government and also by water from irrigation systems and facilities operated by farmers, individuals, or privately owned companies. Such land irrigated was counted as land irrigated by government projects and also as land irrigated by privately owned irrigation projects.

Farm operator—The term "farm operator" is used to designate a person who operates a farm, either doing the work himself or directly supervising the work. He may be the owner, a member of the owner's household, a hired manager, or a tenant. If he rents land to others he is considered as operator only of the land which he retains for his own operation. In the case of a partnership, only one partner is counted as an operator. The number of farm operators is the same as the number of farms.

Farms or operators reporting—Figures for farms represent the number of farms, or farm operators, for which the specified item was reported. For example, if there were 1,822 farms in a municipio and only 665 had chicken hens on hand at the time of enumeration, the figure for farms for the item "Chicken hens" would be 665. The term "farms" used for the 1964 census to designate the count of the number of farms reporting or having the item has the same meaning as "farms reporting" used for the 1959 and prior censuses.

Off-farm work by farm operator—To obtain a measure of the extent to which farm operators worked off their farms, each farm operator was asked the number of days he worked off his farm. Off-farm work was defined to include work on someone else's farm for pay as well as all types of nonfarm jobs, businesses, and professions, whether the work was done on the farm premises or elsewhere. Exchange work was not included.

Farm operators working off their farms were asked to report the principal occupation or kind of job at which they worked off the farm. These occupations or kinds of work were classified into five groups, as follows:

1. Farm laborers
2. Skilled laborers
3. Laborers other than farm and skilled
4. Professional workers and government employees
5. All other occupations

Facilities and equipment—Information was obtained as to whether the following facilities or equipment were on the farm:

1. Electricity
2. Running water
3. Television
4. Radio
5. Milking machine
6. Milk cooler
7. Silo

The number of the following kinds of farm equipment on the farm were obtained:

1. Wheel tractors
2. Crawler tractors
3. Motortrucks
4. Coffee pulping machines
5. Coffee drying platforms
6. Coffee driers
7. Tractor carts
8. Farm ponds
9. Sugarcane loaders
10. Jeeps and pickups
11. Automobiles

Facilities or equipment on the farm were to be reported regardless of ownership. Those temporarily out of order were to be included.

Farm expenditures—Figures on farm expenditures were obtained for only six selected items:

1. Feed purchased for livestock other than poultry
2. Feed purchased for poultry
3. Commercial fertilizer
4. Wages and salaries for farm workers
5. Expenditures for insecticides and fungicides
6. Expenditures for herbicides

The expenditures were to be reported for the 12-month period November 1, 1963, to October 31, 1964. Farm expenditures for the six items made by or for agregados and medianeros living on the farm were to be included. Wages and salaries paid for domestic work or for work in sugar mills were not to be included. The cost of applying fertilizer, insecticides, fungicides, and herbicides was not to be included as an expenditure.

CROPS

Crops planted and crops harvested—The questionnaire contained questions for every crop of any importance in Puerto Rico, asking for the area planted or to be planted, and also the area from which the crops were harvested during the 12-month period (November 1, 1963, to October 31, 1964). (For coffee, the quantity of coffee harvested was to represent that harvested during the period July 1, 1963, to June 30, 1964.) For fruit and nut crops, and a few other crops, census enumerators and farm operators were asked to report the number of trees or plants when the crop was planted as scattered plants or trees or the crop was harvested from scattered plants or trees.

For plantains, bananas, dasheens, pigeon peas, cassava, and for fruits and coconuts, the cuerdas planted or prepared for planting, and the cuerdas harvested do not include the area occupied by scattered plants or trees. In some of the tables, the quantity harvested from scattered plants or trees, has been combined with the quantity harvested from the area reported in cuerdas. When this combination has been made, average yields calculated by dividing the quantity harvested by the cuerdas harvested would overstate the actual average yield per cuerda.

The area harvested, the number of scattered plants or trees from which the crop was harvested, and the quantity harvested shown in the tables for most crops other than vegetables harvested for sale, and ornamental crops are understated because of the failure of enumerators to obtain data on crops harvested for all farms on which crops were harvested. For a considerable number of farms, census enumerators obtained information regarding the area or number of plants or trees planted or prepared for planting, but did not obtain the information regarding the area harvested, the number of plants or trees from which the crop was harvested, or the quantity harvested.

An approximation of the underreporting for area harvested can be obtained from the following comparison of farms and cuerdas planted and cuerdas harvested for various crops.

Crop	Area planted or prepared for planting		Area harvested

This underreporting of crops harvested results in an understatement of quantity harvested and some understatement of the value of farm products sold.

This underreporting of crops harvested did not exist for large farms, and applies only to farms other than large farms. The extent of underreporting of crops harvested varied by municipio and by type of farm.

LIVESTOCK AND POULTRY

Livestock, poultry, and livestock and poultry products—Livestock and poultry were to be counted on the farm on which they were located at the time of the census, regardless of ownership. The farm operator was asked to include on his questionnaire animals belonging to agregados and medianeros. The questionnaire for large farms provides for the reporting of livestock owned by agregados and medianeros separately from those of the farm operator.

The questions on livestock and poultry and their products were more detailed on the agriculture questionnaire for large farms than on the questionnaire used for the nonlarge farms. The questionnaire for large farms contained inquiries asking for the number of cattle by breed (cattle for milk and cattle for beef), and also questions asking for the reporting of broilers on the farm and broilers sold separately from hens and roosters. As nearly all dairy farms, and all farms with significant poultry production were classified as large farms, the data for cattle for milk, and for broilers represent the approximate total for these items for Puerto Rico.

Cows milked, milk produced, milk sold—To provide a benchmark figure for estimates of milk production, the agriculture questionnaire contained questions regarding the number of cows milked, quantity of milk produced, and quantity of milk sold the day prior to the enumeration of the farm.

The number of livestock and poultry sold, and the quantity of milk sold relate to the 12-month period, November 1, 1963, to October 31, 1964.

CLASSIFICATION OF FARMS

Farms by size—Farms were classified by size according to the total land area of each farm.

Farms by tenure of operator—Census farm operators are classified according to the tenure under which they operate the land in their farm. The tenure was determined on the basis of the report as to land owned, total land rented from others, and land managed for others.

a. Full owners own land but do not rent from others.
b. Part owners own land and rent land from others.
c. Managers operate farms for others and are paid a wage or salary for their services. Persons acting merely as caretakers, "mayordomos" (foremen), or hired laborers are not classified as managers. If a farm operator managed land for others and also operated land on his own account, the land operated on his own account was considered as one farm and the land managed for others as another farm. In the 1940 and prior censuses, a considerable number of small farms operated by foremen, sons of owners, etc., were classified as operated by managers. In 1964, 1959, and 1950, such farms were classified as operated by owners rather than by managers. The farms operated by a church, a school, a hospital, or a government agency, were classified as operated by managers.
d. Tenants rent from others all the land they operate.

FARMS BY ECONOMIC CLASS

A classification of farms by economic class was made for the purpose of segregating groups of farms that are somewhat alike in their characteristics and size of operations. This classification was made in order to present an accurate description of the farms in each class and in order to provide basic data for an analysis of the organization of agriculture.

The classification of farms by economic class was made on the basis of the total value of all farm products sold and number of days the farm operator worked off the farm. Farms operated by institutions or government agencies (including farms operated by the Land Authority) were included in the appropriate economic class for 1964.

Farms were divided into eleven groups on the basis of the value of farm products sold as follows:

Commercial farms	Value of farm products sold
I	$20,000 or more
II	$10,000 to $19,999
III	$7,500 to $9,999
IV	$5,000 to $7,499
V	$2,500 to $4,999
VI	$1,200 to $2,499
VII	$500 to $1,199
VIII	$150 to $499

The other farms were divided into three economic classes as follows:

a. Part-time farms—Operator working off the farm 75 or more days and sales of farm products less than $150.

b. Subsistence farms—Operator working off the farm less than 75 days and sales of farm products less than $150.

c. Abnormal farms—Includes all institutional and experimental farms regardless of the value of sales. Institutional farms include those operated by hospitals, penal institutions, schools, etc. Data for abnormal farms are given for only 1959. For 1964, abnormal farms were included with commercial farms on the basis of total value of farm products sold.

Except in the case of vegetables sold and ornamental plants sold, the values of crops, animals, and animal and poultry products sold were not obtained. The value of sales was estimated by multiplying the quantity sold for each crop, animal, or animal or poultry product by unit prices. The unit prices used were secured from the Department of Agriculture of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and are as follows:

Farm product	Price per unit (dollars)	Unit
Sugarcane:
Region 1.	9.07	Ton
Region 2.	8.93	Ton

FARMS BY TYPE

Commercial farms with a value of $150 or more of farm products sold were classified by type on the basis of the source from which 50 percent or more of the calculated value of all farm products sold was obtained. In some cases the type of farm was determined on the basis of the value of sales for an individual farm product such as sugarcane, or on the basis of combined sales of closely related products such as fruits and nuts. In other cases, when 50 percent of the total value of sales was not derived from specified individual products or a closely related group of products, the type was determined on the basis of the value of sales of a broader group of products. For instance, if the value of cotton, rice, pigeon peas, cowpeas, dry beans, corn, sweetpotatoes, dasheens, yams, taniers, cassava, peanuts, Irish potatoes, and other minor crops sold represented 50 percent or more of the total value of farm products sold, the farm was classified as a "minor-crop" farm.

The types, together with the product or group of products from which 50 percent or more of the total sales were to be derived, are as follows:

Type	Product or group of products amounting to 50 percent or more of the value of all farm products sold
Sugarcane	Sugarcane.
Coffee	Coffee.
Tobacco	Tobacco.
Minor-crop	Cotton, rice, pigeon peas, cowpeas, dry beans, corn, sweetpotatoes, dasheens, yams, taniers, cassava, peanuts, Irish potatoes, and other minor field crops.
Fruit and nut	All tree fruits, nuts, and pineapples.
Livestock	Hogs, cattle, milk, poultry, and poultry products.
General-crop	A farm was classified as general-crop if 50 percent or more of the value of farm products sold was obtained from the sale of crops, but the value of a crop or group of crops, as specified for sugarcane, coffee, tobacco, or minor crops, and fruit and nut farms, did not equal 50 percent or more of the total value of farm products sold.
Crop and livestock	Farms on which less than half of the value of all farm products sold was obtained from the sale of crops listed for each crop-type of farm above or from the sale of livestock and livestock products were classified as crop and livestock farms.
Miscellaneous	All farms with calculated sales of $150 or more that could not be classified into any of the above groups. These farms include farms with 50 percent or more of the total value of farm products sold from the sale of ornamental plants, or of vegetables.

STATISTICS FOR PARCELAS

Information was obtained for ownership of land, production of sugarcane, coffee, and tobacco, number of livestock and poultry and production of milk and eggs for parcelas or places containing between ¼ and 3 cuerdas. The information was secured for a sample of one-tenth of the parcelas. (See part II of Form A2, appendix C.) Areas occupied by parcelas administered by the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico under Title V of the Social Program were not enumerated and data for the 50,000 to 60,000 parcelas in these areas are not included in the data in municipio table 17. Parcelas occupied by medianeros living on places of 3 or more cuerdas for which an agriculture questionnaire was obtained were not included.

Parcelas are classified in accordance with the arrangement under which the person or family occupies the parcela as follows:

a. Owners own the land in the parcela.

b. Renters pay cash for the use of the land in the parcela.

c. Medianeros occupy the land in the parcela and give the owner a share of the farm products produced.

d. Usufructuarios occupy land which they do not own and use the land without paying any rent or without giving the owner any share of the farm products they or their family produce.

The data given in municipio table 47 are subject to sampling errors.

DATE OF ENUMERATION

The enumeration was started on November 2 and approximately two-thirds of the farms were enumerated during November and the enumeration was completed by December 21. Questionnaires were mailed to operators of large farms during the first week of November and the enumeration of large farms was started on November 11 and was completed in December.

DATA BASED UPON REPORTS FOR ONLY A SAMPLE OF FARMS

Data on facilities, equipment, work off the farm, and farm expenditures (data for sections 8, 9, and 10 of the agriculture questionnaire, see agriculture questionnaire A, appendix B) were obtained for a sample of approximately one-fifth of the nonlarge farms. The data for these items and sections were obtained for all large farms.

The selection of the one-fifth of the farms for which information for questions 111 through 136 of the agriculture questionnaire for nonlarge farms was to be collected was performed by census enumerators. When the enumerator determined that an agriculture questionnaire was required, he assigned the agriculture questionnaire a number. Questionnaires were assigned numbers in consecutive order, beginning with "1" for the first questionnaire in each enumerator's assignment. Enumerators were required to obtain answers for questions 111 to 136 for every questionnaire for which the assigned number ended in "2" or "7".

The data published by municipios, regions, and Puerto Rico for items to which questions 111 through 136 of the agriculture questionnaire relate are estimates for all farms and are based upon reports for farms in the sample described above, plus totals for large farms. In order to improve the accuracy of the estimates for these items, ratio estimates were made by assigning weights to farms in the sample on the basis of the ratio of farms in the sample to all farms in the group from which the sample was selected. This procedure reduced the possible biases introduced by enumerators and made the number of farms estimated on the basis of the sample exactly equal to the actual number of farms in each municipio.

For the purpose of making ratio estimates, farms comprising the sample were grouped for each region into relatively homogeneous strata. The strata comprised farms within eight type of farm groups and within each of six economic class of farm groups. These six groups of economic classes were: (1) classes I, II, and III, (2) classes IV and V, (3) class VI, (4) class VII, (5) class VIII, and (6) part-time and subsistence.

Farms in the entire group from which the sample was selected were grouped into the same strata and total counts of the number of farms for the entire group and for the farms in the sample were obtained for each stratum.

Farms in the sample in each of the strata were assigned weights so that the total of the weights for all farms in the sample in the stratum would be equal to the total number of farms in the stratum.

When there were 30 or fewer total farms in a stratum or when the farms in the sample comprised less than one-nineteenth of the farms in the stratum, the stratum was combined with another stratum or other strata in prescribed order, until the number of farms in the combined strata totaled more than 30 and the number of farms in the sample comprised at least one-nineteenth of the total farms in the combined strata.

Estimates were prepared for items related to questions 111 through 136 of the agriculture questionnaire by multiplying the data for each item for each farm of the sample by the weight assigned the farm and adding to this the totals for large farms.

Estimated totals for data for items relating to questions 111 through 136 of the agriculture questionnaire are subject to sampling errors. Approximate measures of sampling errors for selected items may be obtained through the use of the following tables A and B. Table A contains a list of selected items and an indicated level of sampling reliability for municipios, regions, and Puerto Rico data and for various groups of farms.

Table A shows percentage limits such that the chances are 68 out of 100 that the difference between an estimate based wholly or in part on a sample of farms and the figure that would have been obtained if the information had been collected and tabulated for all farms would be no more than the percentage specified. The chances are about 99 out of 100 that the difference would be less than 2½ times the percentage given in table A. The percentage given in table A takes into account the fact that data for the items listed were collected for all large farms. As explained in table A, the percentages given for level 1 should be used as a measure of sampling variability for the number of farms having an item.

TABLE A. Sampling Reliability for Estimated Totals for Items Estimated on Basis of Reports for a Sample of Farms, by Number of Farms, by Levels: 1964

If number of farms for item is—	Then the chances are 2 out of 3 that the estimate based on reports for a sample of farms would differ from the total obtained from reports obtained by the enumeration and tabulation of reports for all farms by less than—				If number of farms for item is—	Then the chances are 2 out of 3 that the estimate based on reports for a sample of farms would differ from the total obtained from reports obtained by the enumeration and tabulation of reports for all farms by less than—

TABLE B. Indicated Level of Sampling Reliability of Totals for Selected Items: 1964

[To obtain sampling reliability for an item, determine for which groups shown in this table the reliability is desired and the number of farms for the item. Then obtain the indicated level in this table and obtain the appropriate percentage corresponding to the number of farms having the item and the level from table A]
