Introduction

AUTHORITY AND AREA COVERED—The census of agriculture is authorized by an Act of Congress, "Title 13, United States Code—Census," codified August 31, 1954, and amended in August 1957, September 1960, June and October 1962, and August 1964. Section 142 paragraph (a) provides for the census of agriculture to be taken in October 1959 and each fifth year thereafter. Section 191 provides that the census data for Guam and the Virgin Islands may be collected by the Governor, or highest ranking Federal official, in accordance with plans prescribed or approved by the Director of the U.S. Bureau of the Census. The 1964 census covers agriculture in each of the States and in Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

HISTORY OF THE CENSUS—The 1964 Census of Agriculture is the sixth United States census of agriculture of the Virgin Islands. The first, taken in 1917, was a special census authorized by the Secretary of Commerce. The next census of agriculture was taken in 1930, in conjunction with the population census. From 1930 to 1960, a census of agriculture was taken in the Virgin Islands every 10 years, at the same time as the population census. The 1964 Census of Agriculture is the first quinquennial (5-year) census to be taken in the Virgin Islands. It was taken in November-December 1964.

ENUMERATION—Enumerators in the Virgin Islands in 1964 followed a procedure similar to that used for the agriculture census in the United States, except that in the Virgin Islands the agriculture questionnaires were not distributed to farm operators prior to the enumeration. The procedure included:

- a. Listing the name of the head of the household on a Special Listing Form,
- b. Asking questions to determine if there were any agricultural operations on the place, and
- c. Filling a questionnaire for each place with agricultural operations.

For enumeration purposes, agricultural operations were considered to be on the place if—

- a. Any field crops or vegetables were harvested or gathered on the place during the 12 months (November 1, 1963, to October 31, 1964), or a combined total of 10 or more fruit or nut trees or plants were on the place.

- b. Any livestock or 10 or more poultry were kept on the place at the time of enumeration.

Each supervisor and enumerator employed for the 1964 Census of Agriculture in the Virgin Islands received special training for his job. Training course consisted of 12 hours of classroom instruction (3 days of 4-hour classes) and approximately 4 hours of field enumeration. All training was presented according to procedures contained in guides and instruction books prepared by the Bureau of the Census. It included study of the census forms and procedures, practice interviewing, practice filling of questionnaires, map reading, and work exercises.

ENUMERATION ASSIGNMENTS AND ENUMERATION DISTRICTS—For purposes of enumeration, the Virgin Islands were divided into eight Enumeration Assignments, or EA's. Each of these assignments comprised an area that one enumerator could reasonably be expected to enumerate within a 3- to 4-week period.

Each EA was made up of one or more Enumeration Districts or ED's. Each of the 22 Quarters (political subdivisions) was a separate ED, as was each of the three cities.

Each enumerator received a record book and a map of the area assigned to him. He listed in the record book each head of the household living in the area who had agricultural operations there. As he listed a place in the record book, the enumerator indicated its location by copying onto his map the number of the line on which it was listed. This procedure indicated the enumerator's route of travel. As he made his listing, the enumerator also asked the questions on the listing form. Answers to these questions determined whether or not an agriculture questionnaire was required.

The enumeration for the census of agriculture began on November 9, 1964. A large part of the enumeration was completed in 3 weeks.

CENSUS DEFINITION OF A FARM—The statistics presented in this report relate to places qualifying as census farms. For the 1964 Census of Agriculture in the Virgin Islands, a farm was defined as any "place" on which any field crops or vegetables were harvested or gathered during the year November 1, 1963, to October 31, 1964; or on which there was a combined total of 10 or more fruit or nut trees or plants, any livestock, or ten or more poultry at the time of enumeration. The word "place" designates all land in the Virgin Islands under the control of one person or partnership. Control of the land may be through ownership, management, lease, rental, or cropping arrangement.

All places of 3 or more acres were counted as farms if they qualified by having any field crops or vegetables harvested, 10 or more fruit or nut trees or plants, any livestock or 10 or more poultry. Places of less than 3 acres were counted as farms if sales of agricultural products during the last 12 months amounted to at least $100 or if they could normally be expected to produce agricultural products in sufficient quantity to provide sales amounting to at least $100.

For the 1950 census, all places, regardless of size, were counted as farms if the total value of agricultural products in 1949, whether for home use or for sale, but exclusive of home garden products, amounted to $100 or more. Enumerators were instructed to obtain a questionnaire for every place that the operator considered a farm, for every place of 3 or more acres whether or not it was considered a farm, and for every place of less than 3 acres if the agricultural production in 1949 was valued at $100 or more.

For the 1940 and earlier censuses of agriculture, enumerators were given a definition of a farm and were instructed to obtain questionnaires only for those places that met the requirements of the definition. In 1940, farms included all places of 3 or more acres on which there were any agricultural operations and places of less than 3 acres if the value of agricultural products, whether for home use or for sale, amounted to $100 or more.

The farm definition for the 1930 census was the same as in 1940, except that places of less than 3 acres with agricultural products valued at less than $100 were counted as farms provided they required the continuous services of at least one person. For the 1917 census, a farm was defined as "the land under the personal management of a single individual or firm, though consisting of different tracts, used for producing animals, fowls, and agricultural products, and operated or farmed by his labor, the labor of the members of his household, or by hired employees working under his personal direction."

OFFICE PROCESSING — Each enumerator's work was examined and checked for completeness by the Agriculture Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. All questionnaires were individually edited and coded prior to tabulation of the data. In the editing process, questionnaires that did not represent farms, according to the census definition, were withdrawn from further processing. The remaining questionnaires were then examined for completeness and consistency. Errors in calculations and units of measure, inconsistencies, and misplaced entries were corrected. Incomplete reports were adjusted on the basis of related information on the same questionnaire or on questionnaires for nearby farms of similar size.

In the coding process, numerical codes were entered on all questionnaires to classify farms by size in terms of total area, by tenure and birthplace of operator, and by total value of agricultural products sold. In addition, codes were entered on questionnaires for commercial farms to indicate type of farm.

DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

Descriptive summary and references—The definitions and explanations that follow relate only to those items that are considered to be inadequately described in the tables where they appear. Most of the definitions consist of a resumé of the questionnaire wording, supplemented by excerpts from instructions given to enumerators. For exact wording of the questions and of the instructions included on the questionnaire, see the facsimile of the 1964 agriculture questionnaire in appendix B.

Land in farms—All data relating to land tenure and to land in farms refer only to land located in the Virgin Islands. The land to be included in each farm was determined from the answers to questions two through six which relate to land tenure. (See the facsimile of the questionnaire in appendix B.) The acres owned and the acres rented from others or worked on shares for others were first added together and then the acres rented to others or worked on shares by others were subtracted. The result represented the number of acres in the farm. The number of acres in a managed farm was the difference between the total land managed and that part of the managed land that was rented to others or worked on shares by others.

In the 1964, 1960, and 1950 censuses, enumerators were instructed to record total figures for land owned, land rented from others, and land managed for others, including any part of the land that was rented to others. In censuses prior to 1950, enumerators were instructed to exclude all land rented to others and to record only that portion of the acreage owned, rented from others, or managed for others that was retained by the farm operator. Thus, the figures for the individual tenures of land are not entirely comparable except for 1964, 1960, and 1950. However, the land included in each farm was determined on essentially the same basis for all censuses.

Although the acreage designated "land in farms" consists primarily of "agricultural" land—that is, land used for crops, pasture, or grazing, and all land that farm operators rented to others—it also includes areas of land not actually under cultivation nor used for pasture or grazing. For example, the entire acreage of woodland and wasteland that farm operators owned or rented from others was included as land in farms, unless reports indicated it was being held for nonagricultural purposes.

Land owned—This item includes all land that the operator and/or his wife held under title, purchase contract, homestead law, or as heir or trustee of an undivided estate at the time of enumeration.

Land rented from others—This item includes not only land that the operator rented or leased from others but also land he worked on shares for others and land he occupied rent free.

Land rented to others—This item includes all land that the operator rented or leased to others and all land that he assigned to others on shares or on a rent-free basis. For the most part, the land rented to others represents agricultural land but it also includes land rented for residential or other purposes. For land leased, rented, or worked on shares, the tenant is considered to be the operator even though his landlord may supervise his operations. The landlord is considered as operator of only that portion of the land not assigned to tenants.

Land managed—This item includes all tracts of land managed for one or more employers by a person hired on a salary or wage basis. A hired manager was considered to be the operator of the land he managed since he was responsible for the agricultural operations on that land and frequently supervised others in performing those operations. In cases where a hired manager had agricultural operations of his own, they were reported on the questionnaire for the place he managed and not on a separate questionnaire.

Land in farms according to use—Land in farms as of November 1, 1964, has been distributed according to the way in which it was used during the last 12 months (November 1, 1963–October 31, 1964). The land uses described in the following paragraphs are mutually exclusive in that each acre of land is included only once even though it may have had more than one use during the year.

Cropland harvested refers to all land from which any crops were harvested during the last 12 months, whether for home use or for sale. It also includes land in field crops that were grazed when mature or almost mature and land in nonbearing fruit and nut trees and plants. Land from which two or more crops were harvested in the last 12 months was to be counted only once. Land used for other purposes either before or after the crops were harvested was to be reported as cropland harvested, without regard to the other uses.

Cropland in growing crops not harvested includes land from which no crops were harvested during the last 12 months, but which was occupied by growing crops (primarily sugarcane and pineapples) intended for harvest in 1965 or later. It does not include land in fruit or nut trees, nor land in crops harvested or intended for harvest in 1964 even if such land was replanted to crops for harvest after 1964.

Cropland used only for pasture includes land used only for pasture or grazing that the operator considered could have been used for crops without additional clearing or irrigating. Enumerators were instructed to exclude any land pastured after a crop was harvested from it. Permanent open pasture may have been reported either for this item or for "other pasture" depending on whether or not the operator considered it as cropland.

Cropland on which crops failed and idle land refers to all cropland intended for harvest during the last 12 months but that was not harvested because of complete crop failure, low prices, labor shortage, or other reason; and also to land that had been plowed and could be plowed again without first being cleared of brush but that lay idle throughout the last 12 months.

Noncrop open or brush pasture refers to all land used for pasture or grazing in the last 12 months except cropland and woodland.

Woodland pasture includes all woodland where livestock pastured or grazed in the last 12 months. In the enumerator's Reference Book, "woodland" was defined as referring "to all farm wood lots or timber tracts, natural or planted; and to cutover land with young growth which has or will have value as wood or timber."

Woodland not pastured includes all woodland, as defined above, that was not used for pasture or grazing in the last 12 months.

Other land refers to all land not included in the preceding land-use classifications, such as house and other building lots, lanes, roads, ditches, land area of ponds and wasteland.

Farm ponds—All reservoirs for water storage made by excavation or by construction of earth or other materials were to be reported as farm ponds. Natural lakes or ponds were to be excluded unless they had been enlarged or improved for holding water. The size of each pond was to be reported in number of square feet when the pond was full.

Value of land and buildings—The values presented in this report were compiled from operators' estimates of the market value of the farms they operated. Market value was defined as the price which the farm operator would expect to receive for the land and the buildings if he were to sell them at the time of the census.

Farm mortgage debt—For 1964, 1960, and 1950, the data for farm mortgage debt relate to all land owned by an operator, including land rented to others. For 1940 and 1930, they relate only to the owned land retained by an operator for his own operation.

Age of operator—For the 1964 census, farm operators were classified by age into six age groups. The average age of farm operators was derived from the sum of the ages of all farm operators reporting age divided by the number of operators reporting.

Birthplace of operator—In the 1964 and 1960 censuses, farm operators were classified by place of birth according to whether they were born in the Virgin Islands, in Puerto Rico, or elsewhere. The purpose of the question on place of birth was to obtain a measure of the native language abilities of farm operators as a guide to agricultural agents in preparing news releases for distribution to farmers. Need for information about language abilities had arisen since the 1950 census as a result of the influx of Puerto Ricans into the Virgin Islands.

Residence of operator—Farm operators were classified by residence according to whether or not they lived on the farms they were operating. Some of those who did not live on the farms they operated themselves lived on farms operated by others. In cases where all the land was rented from others or worked on shares for others, the operator was considered to live on the farm operated provided the dwelling he occupied was included in the rental agreement. The dwelling, in such cases, was not necessarily on the land being operated. Similarly, a farm operator who did not live on the land being cultivated or grazed but who had some agricultural operations (other than a home garden) at his dwelling was considered as living on the farm operated.

Year began operating present farm—Enumerators were instructed to report the year during which a farm operator began to operate his present farm and, if after November 1, 1963, also to report the month. The year was intended to refer to the first year of the period during which the operator had been in continuous charge of his present farm or of any part of it.

Work off farm—The extent to which farm operators rely on nonfarm sources for part of their income is indicated by the number of days worked off the farm during the 12 months preceding the census. Data for the 1964 census are comparable with those for the censuses of 1960, 1950, and 1940. The period for the 1964 census includes the 12 months from November 1, 1963, to October 31, 1964; while for the 1960, 1950, and 1940 censuses the period includes the 12 months from January 1, to December 31, for 1959, 1949, and 1939, respectively. Work off the farm was defined to include work on someone else's farm for pay as well as all types of nonfarm jobs, businesses, and professions, whether the work was done on the farm premises or elsewhere. Exchange work was not included.

Nonfarm income—This is income received by the farm operator and members of his household from sources other than the sale of farm products from the place operated. It includes rent from farm and nonfarm property, wages or salary from a nonfarm job or profession, work off farm, Social Security payments, pensions, dividends and interest, payments from roomers or boarders, and annuities.

Equipment and facilities—Data obtained in the 1964 census of the number of motor-trucks, tractors, and automobiles on farms are comparable with those presented for earlier years. Farm operators were asked to report the number of each item on their farms at the time of enumeration, regardless of ownership. Items that were temporarily out of order were to be included but not any that were worn out. Motortrucks include pickup trucks and truck-trailer combinations and also jeeps and station wagons if they were used primarily as trucks. Tractors include all wheel and track-laying (crawler) tractors, garden tractors, and home made tractors. Automobiles include jeeps and station wagons if they were used primarily as passenger cars.

For the 1964 and the 1960 censuses, data were obtained as to the presence or absence of electricity, piped running water, and telephones. These facilities were considered to be on the farm if they were available anywhere on the place, whether or not they were in the operator's dwelling. "Piped running water" was defined as "water carried in pipelines by a pressure system or by gravity flow from a natural or artificial source." The data in this report represent the number of farms having the facilities specified. The difference between the number of these farms and the total number of farms represents the number of farms not having the facilities (except for the farms that failed to report either their presence or absence).

Specified farm expenditures—The 1964 questionnaire contained questions for five items of farm expenditures. For each item specified, the total cash expenditures made for the farm during the 12-month period (November 1, 1963, to October 31, 1964) were to be reported, whether made by the farm operator, his landlord, or both. A farm operator who rented part of his land to others was to report only the expenditures for the land he operated himself.

Machine hire—Expenditures for machine hire relate to custom machine work, such as tractor hire, plowing, spraying, and hauling. Any amount spent for the labor included in the cost of machine hire was to be considered as part of the expenditure to be reported for this item. The cost of hauling or trucking and exchange work without pay were to be omitted.

Hired labor—Expenditures for hired labor were to include total cash payments made in the 12-month period to family members and to others for farm labor. Payments to persons supplied by a contractor or a cooperative organization and paid directly by them or by the crew leader were also to be included. Payments for the following types of work were to be excluded: Housework; contract construction work; custom machine work; and repair, installation, or construction work performed by persons specifically employed for such work.

Feed—Expenditures for feed for livestock and poultry were to include total cash payments made in the 12-month period for pasture, salt, condiments, mineral supplements, grain, hay, millfeeds, and any other items purchased for feeding livestock and poultry on the place. Expenditures made for the grinding and mixing of feed and the estimated cost of items furnished to the operator by a landlord or others were also to be included. Payments made by a tenant to his landlord for feed grown on the tenant's farm were to be excluded.

Seeds, bulbs, plants, and trees—The total cash expenditures for seeds, bulbs, trees, vines, shrubs, or other plants purchased for the farm in the 12-month period were to be reported. The value of seeds or plants grown on the farm and the cost of products purchased for immediate resale without further growth were to be excluded.

Fertilizer and manure—Expenditures were to include the total amount spent in the 12-month period for manure and commercial fertilizers of all kinds for use on the farm.

LIVESTOCK AND POULTRY

Inventories—Enumerators were instructed to report the number of livestock and poultry on the farm at the time the questionnaire was filled.

All livestock and poultry were to be enumerated on the place where they were at the time of enumeration, regardless of who owned them. Livestock on unfenced land were to be reported as being on the place where the person who had control over them had his headquarters.

Inventory data for milk cows include all cows that had ever been milked, whether or not they were being milked at the time of enumeration. Data for cows milked and milk produced relate to the day preceding the enumeration. The questions about milk cows and milk produced were included in the 1964 census primarily to serve as a basis for making estimates of milk production in the Virgin Islands.

Sales—Data for sales of livestock, milk, and poultry products, as obtained in the 1964 census, relate to the 12-month period from November 1, 1963, to October 31, 1964. Enumerators were instructed to report total quantities and gross values, regardless of who did the selling or shared the receipts. Products given by a tenant to his landlord and products taken from an institutional farm for use by inmates of the institution were to be considered as sold.

CROPS

Crops harvested—The 1964 questionnaire was similar to the questionnaire used in previous censuses in that it provided for the collection of data for all field crops, vegetables, fruits, and nuts harvested on each farm. Inquiries were included for all crops commonly grown in the Virgin Islands; space was also provided for the reporting of any additional crops that were harvested during the 12 months preceding the enumeration.

Acres of crops harvested—The area for individual crops was reported in terms of acres and tenths of acres harvested. When two or more crops, or two or more plantings of the same crop were harvested from the same land, the area was to be reported for each separate crop or planting.

For field crops, the area from which an individual crop was harvested was asked only if the quantity harvested amounted to 200 pounds or more. Therefore, yields computed on the basis of the area and production figures for field crops harvested during the 12 months, as given in this report, may be slightly overstated for some crops.

For tree fruits and nuts, the figures for acres and for number of trees and plants relate to the acres or number at the time of the enumeration. The acreage relates to the total area in both bearing and nonbearing fruit trees and plants and planted nut trees of all kinds. The questionnaire for the 1964 census did not include questions for acreage for each kind of fruits and nuts. Acres were not obtained and are not included in the total when the acres for the farm was less than five-tenths of an acre. The acreage reported for vegetables relates only to the acreage harvested for sale.

Quantity of crops harvested—Data for quantity harvested were obtained for field crops and for fruits and nuts. Total quantities of each crop harvested were to be reported, whether the crops were for home use or for sale.

The units of measure in which quantities were to be reported have varied for some crops from one census to another. The aim has been to permit reporting in the units of measure currently in use. In this report, the quantities harvested for each crop are usually expressed in the units of measure given on the 1964 questionnaire. To provide readily comparable information, data published in earlier reports in different units of measure have been converted to the units used for the 1964 census.

Value of crops sold—Data for value of crops sold during the 12-month period were obtained for each kind of vegetable and for fruits and nuts, and field crops sold. The gross value of quantities sold from each farm was to be reported, regardless of who did the selling or shared the receipts. Crops given to a landlord and crops produced on institutional farms for use by inmates of the institution were to be considered as sold. Comparable data for earlier censuses are available only for vegetables for sale.

Farms by size—Farms were classified by size on the basis of the total land area determined for each farm. According to the census definition, a farm is essentially an operating unit, not an ownership tract. All land operated or managed by one person or partnership represents one farm. In the case of tenants, the land assigned to each tenant is considered a separate farm, even though the landlord may consider his entire land holding to be one unit rather than several separate units.

Farms by tenure of operator—In the 1964 census, farms were classified by tenure of operator on the basis of data reported for land owned, land rented from others or worked on shares for others, and land managed for others. The same basis of classification was used for the 1960 census.

During the processing operations for the 1964 census, each questionnaire was coded to indicate whether the farm operator was a full owner, a part owner, a manager, or a tenant. The various classifications of tenure defined are:

Full owners operate only land they own.

Part owners operate land they own and also land they rent from others.

Managers operate land for others and are paid a wage or salary for their services. Persons acting merely as caretakers or hired as laborers are not classified as managers. If a farm operator managed land for others and also operated land on his own account, the land operated on his own account was included on the questionnaire for the place he managed and all considered as one farm. If he managed land for two or more employers, all the managed land was considered to be one farm.

Tenants rent from others or work on shares for others all the land they operate.

For the 1940 and earlier censuses, operators were classified on the basis of the land they retained for their own operations. A part owner who sublets to others all the land he rented from others was classified as a full owner; a part owner who rented to others all the land he owned was classified as a tenant.

Farms by economic class—The same classification of farms by economic class was used for the 1964 and the 1959 censuses. The economic classifications represent groupings of farms that are similar in characteristics and size of operation. The economic class of each farm was determined on the basis of total value of all farm products sold or on the basis of total value in conjunction with the number of days the farm operator worked off the farm. Institutional farms were always classified as "abnormal."

The total value of farm products sold was obtained by addition of the reported values for all products sold from the farm. The value of livestock, milk, poultry and eggs, vegetables, fruits and nuts, and all field crops, except sugarcane, was obtained from the farm operator at the time of enumeration. The value of sugarcane was obtained from a report on sugarcane production, prepared by the Department of Agriculture and Labor of the Virgin Islands.

Farms were grouped into two major categories, commercial farms and other farms, on the basis of total value of products sold. In general, all farms with a value of sales amounting to $2,500 or more were classified as commercial. Farms with a value of sales of $100 to $2,499 were classified as commercial only if the farm operator did not work off the farm 100 days or more during the year. The remaining farms with a value of sales of less than $2,500 and institutional farms were included in one of the groups of "other" farms.

Commercial farms were divided into seven economic classes on the basis of the total value of all farm products sold, as follows:

Economic class of farm	Total value of farm products sold
I	$10,000 and over
II	$7,500 to $9,999
III	$5,000 to $7,499
IV	$2,500 to $4,999
V*	$1,200 to $2,499
VI*	$500 to $1,199
VII*	$100 to $499

* Provided the farm operator did not work off the farm 100 days or more in 1959.

Other farms were divided into five economic classes as follows:

a. Residential — Except for "abnormal" farms, all farms with a value of farm products sold of less than $100 were classified as "residential." Some residential farms are those whose operators worked off the farm 100 days or more during the 12 months preceding the census. Other residential farms represent subsistence or marginal farms.

b. Part-time—Farms with a value of sales of farm products of $100 to $2,499 were classified as "part-time" if the operator worked off the farm 100 days or more during the 12 months preceding the census.

Part-time farms were further classified into three groups on the basis of the value of farm products sold ($1,200 to $2,499; $500 to $1,199; and $100 to $499, respectively).

c. Abnormal—All institutional farms were classified as "abnormal," regardless of the value of farm products sold. Institutional farms include those operated by hospitals, schools, agricultural experiment stations, Government agencies, etc.

Farms by type—Commercial farms were also classified by type for the 1964 and 1960 censuses. This same basis was used for the classification for both the 1964 and 1960 censuses. The type of farm represents a grouping of farms according to the major source of income from sales of farm products. To be classified as a particular type, a farm had to have sales of a particular product or group of products amounting in value to 50 percent or more of the total value of all farm products sold.

The types of farms, together with the farm products used as a basis for determining each type, are as follows:

Type of commercial farm	Source of value of farm products sold (Farm product or farm products specified, represent 50% or more of total value of all farm products sold)	Type of commercial farm	Source of value of farm products sold (Farm product or farm products specified, represent 50% or more of total value of all farm products sold)
Sugarcane	Sugarcane.	Dairy—Con.	(a) The value of milk sold accounted for more than 30 percent of the total value of products sold and—
Vegetable	Vegetables.		(b) Milk cows represented 50 percent or more of total cows and—
Fruit and nut	Fruits, nuts, and coffee.		(c) The value of milk sold plus the value of cattle and calves sold amounted to 50 percent or more of the total value of all farm products sold.
Dairy	Milk. The criterion of 50 percent of total sales was modified in the case of dairy farms. A farm having value of milk sold amounting to less than 50 percent of the total value of farm products sold was classified as a dairy farm if—	Livestock	Cattle, calves, hogs, pigs, sheep, lambs, goats, and kids.
		Poultry	Chickens, chicken eggs, turkeys, and other poultry.
		General	Cash income from three or more sources and not meeting the criteria for any other type.
		Miscellaneous	Horses, mules, asses, burros.
		Abnormal	All institutional farms.
